Conference Description

This annual event is designed to be a comprehensive Conference dealing with all of the relevant issues in today's primary care settings. Each session will be devoted to the care of patients and will consist of Q & A preceded by a lecture presentation by leading specialists to a target audience of primary care physicians, physician assistants and nurse practitioners. Attendees will benefit whether they have an established patient base and desire updates and confirmation of their current practice delivery, are newly established, or see a wide variety of patient disease states. The content of this educational activity was developed based on data

The Office of Continuing Medical Education collected from previous Conference attendees, the Planning Committee's perceptions of needed improvements in primary care diagnoses and treatments, and review of current trends in literature.

The faculty for this Conference has been chosen based on their expertise and will attempt to address practice gaps by providing cutting-edge diagnosis and treatment options in areas such as cardiology, pulmonology, rheumatology, neurology, oncology and psychiatry. Expanded knowledge and practice improvements by the attendees comes from case studies, patient outcomes, research results, best practice guidelines and encouraged interactions with the faculty. Measured outcomes will be addressed with interactive Q & A at the end of each presentation, utilizing an audience response system during presentations and exit surveys.
